مقدمة

صحت نسأة الغناء نسأة الإنسان . والغناء غريرى في كل شعب . إنه لون من لون التعبير عن حياته . وكما يكون تعبير الألفاظ عن المفاسد ساذجاً بسيطاً في بده حياة الشعب يكون غناها . ثم يتطور إلى التهذيب طبقاً لنطوير البيئة الاجتماعية والثقافية المرتبطة بها . والغناء تعبير عن الاتصالات النفسية لفرد وللجماعة ، لهذا نجني ، الأغاني مصورة لميول الشعب وطبائعها . ولن نجد الصواب إذا اعتبرناها جزءاً من حياتها المادية والمعنوية معاً . وأصدق مثال على هذا ما اصطلاح على قسميته بالأشعار الشعبية ، لأنها ترسم صوراً واحدة صادقة لحياة الشعب الاجتماعية والسياسية والعلقانية . والأغاني الشعبية معارض خصبة إن لم تقل لوحة تعبيرية منها الزاهى البروج والفاتح الحزين ، منها الوضيع ومنها الرفيع . وهي على اختلاف أنواعها وتعدد نواحيها تؤلف رثوة فنية باقية . لهذا يُعنى الناس في مختلف الأمم المتحضرة بمحاجتها وحققتها بشق الطرق . كما أن الأغاني الشعبية في جميع البلدان المتحضرة كانت ولا تزال مصدر وحي للمؤلفين الموسيقيين .

إن اهتمام بالأشعار الشعبية مرجم إلى ذكريات طفولة سعيدة . كنت أسمع هذه الأغانيات ترددتها عبارة المربيات كـ ترددتها فتيات الريف حيث كانت تقف في عطلتنا المدرسية في صيحة في أواسط الدلتا . كنت وأخواتي إذا ما خرجنا في الأصليل للزحجة ، حارت معنا فتيات «المزبة» يغبنين ويصفقن . حق إذا حلّ المساء تجتمع في ساحة أمام منزلنا الشباب والأطفال والشيوخ من الجنيين . فيقوم الشبان بالتمثيل والغناء على أنقاض النادي الشجنة . كان والدائي يغدقان عليهم فروشاً وحلوى ، فيسود الجموع جو من المرح والبهجة . وكثيراً ما كانت تزورنا فرق موسيقية جوالة تضم بين أفرادها راقصات يقدمن أنواعاً من الرقص المصحوب بالغناء . فيختلف حوطن سكان «المزبة» فرحين مهالين . وكان كرم والدى أكبر مشجع ، فلا يكاد يمر يوم دون أن تزورنا إحدى هذه الفرق .

وهكذا كان الصيف ينقضى وأياماً «بالمزبة» كأنها مرحلة وهناك في جو من الموسيقى والغناء يشترك فيها الجميع صغير عم وكبير عم ، مما يربط بين القلوب ووحد بين النفوس — تلك الرابطة التي لم تؤثر فيها الأيام ولم يبدل منها الزمان . رابطة قوامها تعارف ، ومودة ، وعطف وإخلاص . وفي ذلك الجلو السعيد وبين أحفنان الطبيعة الغناء سمعت وتعلمت معظمه الأغانى التي تتألف منها هذه الجموعة . وفي السنوات الأخيرة رأى أن الكثير من الأغانى الشعبية التي سمعتها في طفولتى أصبحت في طريقها إلى الصياغ . فأخذت في جمع الأغانيها وتدوينها بالتوثيق الموسيقية . ورأيت أن أسجل بعض ما تحويه بمجموعات التي تزيد على مائة أغنية ، في كتاب يضمها بين دفتيه لحفظها .

قد يتساءل البعض عما دعاني لترجمة هذه الأغانى إلى الإنجليزية . والحق يقال إنني لم أفكرا بأدى ، إلا ، وفي هذه الترجمة قبل أوائل هذا الشهار سنة ١٩٥٨ . كنت أطالع في كتاب «عادات المصريين وتقاليدهم» المستشرق ادوارد لайн، Edward W. Lane، The Manners and Customs of the modern Egyptians، by Edward W. Lane، فأعجبتني ترجمة بعض الأغانى الشعبية الشائعة في ذلك العهد سنة ١٨٣٦ — أي منذ مائة واثنين وعشرين عاماً . وحينئذ جال بخيالى أن أتحوّل نحوه وأترجم هذه الأغاني حتى يتسنى لغير الناطقين بالفداد تذوق أغانيها الشعبية وتأديتها بالإنجليزية متى أمكن ذلك . وترجمت قرابة ثلاثين أغنية يمكن أداؤها بالإنجليزية . وأكفيت في بعض الأحيان بترجمة تقتصر على أداء المعنى دون أن تطابق الموسيقى .

This book contains a small collection of Egyptian Folk Songs, some of which are known in other countries of the Middle-East. Nearly all of these songs I had heard when, as a child, I used to spend the summer vacation at our family farm. With my sisters and brothers, we romped through the fields, went fishing, or riding. We were often joined by peasant girls who sang and danced merrily as we went along. Very often in the evenings the older boys, all farm hands, would gather in a yard outside our windows, and entertain us with songs accompanied by the sweet strains of reed pipes so common in rural areas. Often the performers gave little plays, while the older men and women stood around applauding and encouraging them. My parents were lavish in their hospitality to both players and onlookers, and so a spirit of friendliness and an atmosphere of carefree gaiety pervaded those pleasant summer evenings.

Often too, bands of musicians and dancers would come and perform underneath our windows. My parents' generous tips encouraged others to follow, and so all through the summer days there was music in the air. Therefore, the songs in this collection are genuine Folk Songs truly representative of Egypt. Some are urban songs, and give a true picture of the era in which they were popular, while others are village songs. Some are typical of the Southern Provinces, usually referred to as Upper Egypt. Other songs come from Lower Egypt, the Provinces that lie between the branches of the Nile, north of Cairo. All the songs in this book are old, the most recent being those which were popular during the First World War. A number of these songs are still remembered by older people; a few are still popular today, amongst which is the first, "O Henna Henna"; This song was first heard more than eleven hundred years ago in 896 A.D.; reference to it is made in a historical novel by Said El-Bryan - published in 1945 - and which bore the name of Atrial-Nada, - the princess for whom the song was first sung.

I have often come across totally different versions of a song, sometimes as many as three or even four, having the same melody. Only twice have I used two different texts having the same melody.

This volume should not be considered a scientific study of the Folk Songs of Egypt. Rather has it been my aim to preserve this phase of our folklore which is rapidly disappearing from the present day scene. Very few of the young people of today are familiar with these songs. What a pity their charm should be lost!

When I first started my collection it never occurred to me to make an English translation. One day, however, early in January 1958, I happened to turn to the chapter on Music in Edward W. Lane's "The Manners and Customs of the Modern Egyptians" published in 1836. I was interested in his translations of the Arabic songs then popular, and the idea occurred to me to make such a collection for myself. No effort was made however, to follow the formal poetic meters. My sole aim was to make these songs available for use by non-Arabic speaking people. In some cases the text merely gives the idea of the song and is not a literal translation. My hope is that I have succeeded in bringing to the world a picture of what our Folk Songs so vividly portray.

These songs are to me a source of infinite joy, because of the happy memories they evoke; still more, because of their sweet simplicity which reflects the soul of a peace-loving and friendly people. Such are the children of the Nile Valley, a nation whose historic background bespeaks a civilization and culture equalled by few other nations.

I hope that this modest contribution may become a sesame, opening the door to the treasures of our rich musical heritage and to the enrichment of joyful living.

O Henna, O Henna †

1. O Henna, o Henna, bright red,
Dew-drop from the sky.
A cooling breeze my cheek caresses,
Coming through thy window, love.
2. O, how I fear thy Mother's quick glance,
In her search for thee.
I'll spread o'er thee, o my beloved,
My long braids of raven black hair.
3. From foes or friends, who seek to find thee,
I'll hide thee away.
Mine eyes a shelter safe to hide thee,
Mine lashes a mantle be.

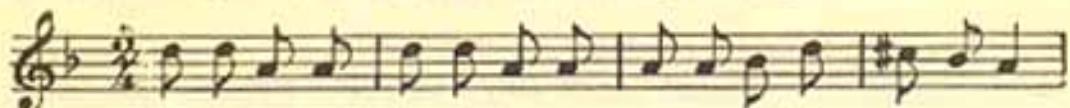

This song was first sung for Princess Atril-Nada daughter of Khomaraway, son of Ahmed Iba Touloum, founder of the dynasty of the same name, which ruled Egypt from the year 254 to 292 of the *Higra. Famous for her great beauty, she was married to the Caliph Al-Mutadid of Bagdad, in the year 282 of the Higra, 896 A.D. This song was first sung by the Princess's old nurse, Om Asyn. To this day, it is still quite popular.

† Henna - leaves of a tree which were used to dye the hands and feet of a bride, a bright red. This custom is fast dying out.

*Higra. Islamic Year.

This song is known in other countries of the Middle East, with a few changes in the words

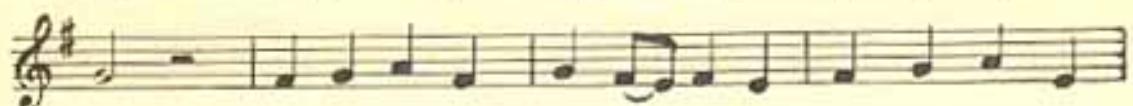

برهوم يا برهوم

زيد بو با

Bar - houm ya Bar - houm ya boo Zeid-i

غالي تركب صغير الساج التوب نحت حلال

Bilal tah - til - toa - bil tagi sogha - yar tir - kab ghali

به غالى تركب والله اي به

برهوم يا برهوم يا بو زيد حلال
نحت التوب الساج صغير تركب غالى به
أى والله - تركب غالى به

برهوم في حلالنا يا سكل ككري
والواحدة ينكح آه يا عيني والواحدة ينكح
أى والله - والواحدة ينكح

برهوم في العالى والمالى الله
لاديج جوز حرام صغير واعزم خلق الله
أى والله - واعزم خلق الله

برهوم في الطروح والشامير يده وح
والقلب به روح يا عيني جروح سكرين
أى والله - جروح سكرين

يعنى أن هذه الأغنية تروى قصة مهاجر عاد إلى منقطة رأسه في أقصى فرجى جبل لبنان بعد غيبة طوالة . وأراد أن ينادي والديه المغوزين . فطرق بابهما في ساعة متأخرة من ليلة حalka السوداء وطلب البيت كأنه كان غريباً . وكان مظاهره يدل على التراء . فلاج المتشع قلب المغوزين ووجداً الفرصة سانحة للتراء العاجل دون أن يفتح أمرها . فانتك بالغرب أثناء تواه ، وتحالها من جنته ، حتى إذا أقبل الصباح جاءها شاب من رملنا ، ابنها الغائب - وكل يوم بمودته . ولشدة دعوه عندما انكر المغوزان وجود رجل غريب بينهما . إلى أن كانت المفاجأة المفجعة عندما أربط المقام عن شخصية الغريب .

Barhoum, O Barhoum

1. Barhoum, O Barhoum.
Ya-bou Zeid Hilal.
'Neath his robe a crown is hidden
Lofty hopes he dreams, by 'Allah!
Lofty are your dreams.
2. Barhoum's in the street,
Eating juicy pears,
Bought for two milliemes, by Allah!
Bought for two milliemes. by Allah!
Bought for two milliemes.
3. Barhoum's on the roof.
His tale bards recount.
Wounded through the heart, O my eye!
By a traitor's knife, by Allah.
By a traitor's knife.
4. Barhoum's hopes were high.
God alone is high.
For a pair of pigeons tender,
I'll invite you all, by Allah.
I'll invite you all.

(Barhoum is a pet name for Ibrahim, a man's name. Abou Zeid Hilal is a legendary figure famed for his chivalry).

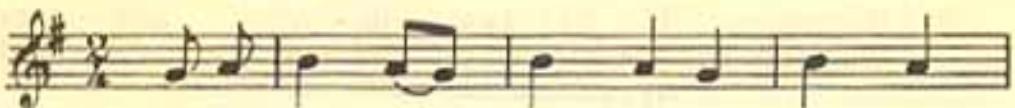

*By Allah - an oath. +Milliemes, small currency - one fiftieth of a shilling.

This song tells the sad tale of an immigrant, who returning home to his native mountain village in Lebanon, was murdered by his parents. Arriving late one dark night, he asked his childhood friend to keep the news of his return secret till the following morning. He wanted to surprise his parents whom he was sure would not recognize the well-dressed stranger, as their own son, who had left home in search of fortune, many years before.

Filled with greed, the old couple killed the stranger, stole his money, and buried him on the mountain side. When his friend came the following morning to rejoice in the happy reunion, he was met with a firm denial from both old people. "No stranger had crossed their door step," they insisted, upon which the friend disclosed the identity of the stranger, to the horror and shock of the wicked old couple.

يا بنت جروا المدينه عدمكم اشياء نهيه
تلبسوا الشاهي بسلوى والقلاده على الهد زيه
يا ملاح خافوا من الله وارحموا العاشقين في
حبك مكتوب من الله فدراه المسؤول عالي

يا شيخ العرب يا سيد نجمعني على خلي البله
وان جان حبيب قلبي لا عمل له الكثيم شلبه
كامل الاوصاف فتنى والعيون السود رموني
من هواهم صرت أغنى والهوى زوج زوج جنونى
جَمِعُوا جمع العوازل عن حبيبي ينبعونى
والله أنا ما أفوت حوام بالسيوف لو قطعوني
فُم بنا يا خلي نكر نحن ظلل الباسرين
قطف الملوخ من على امه والعوازل غافلين

ذكرت هذه الاغنية في كتاب «عادات المصريين وتقاليدهم» مؤلفه ادوارد لاعن سنة ١٨٣٦

يا بنت اسكندرية لا لكم في العشه غبّة
تلبسوا كثيم بوردي وترخوا الدلال على
ليلة أمس لبله مبغشه اشرفت منها البدال
واغتنينا الحظ كنه واجتمع خجل بخل

O Ye Maids Of Alexandria.

O ye maids of Alexandria,
By the sea you love to loiter,
Dressed in silk with silver shining,
Honey - sweet your lips so tender.

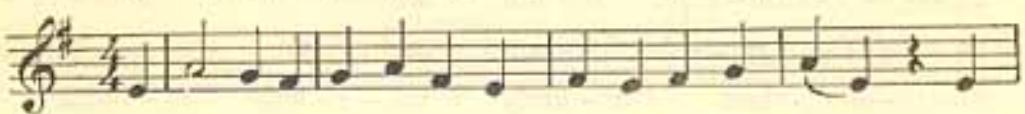

O ye daughters of the city,
Treasures rich and rare you do have,
Dressed in silk with pearls adorning,
Round your necks hang pearls so milky.

This song is mentioned in Edward W. Lane's Book : - "Manners and Customs of the Modern Egyptians," published in 1836.

Alexandria - is the beautiful sea port of Egypt. It was named after Alexander the Great.

My Dainty Pretty Maid

1. My dainty pretty maid,
Sweet as the honey dew,
O come to me, dear love,
O bright star of my life.
2. Put on your gown of silk,
The shade of lovely rose,
And come beside me, love,
O bright star of my eye.
3. Put on your gown of grey,
How can you be so gay?
While I do pine away,
For love of you, dear heart.

This song is popular in other countries of the Middle East. I heard it sung in a mountain resort of Lebanon, more than thirty years ago.

زفة العروسة

من ورده يا زينه يا حلوه انخطيري

عروسة يا فرقل عود يا جينيه جوه

عليها نليل الورد و

انخطيري حلوه يا زينه يا ورده من جوه جينيه
 يا عود فرقيل يا عروسه والورد نليل عليهما
 انخطيري ونمالي جيني يا حلوه في البدله البعي
 يا عود فرقيل يا لندى والورد نليل عليهما
 انخطيري ونمالي لها يا بنت سيدنا وسيدةنا
 يا بنت شيخ العلاماء يا عاشهه وكماله المعنى
 انخطيري لريشك كل البلاد على كبك
 حزامك فمه بيت ريمال يا ام العبوت العلبه
 يا مالعين التصر لفوق يا نازلين متموا لى
 على غزال وعيونه سود والعنق أيض بلوري

Processional Bridal Song

1. Here comes the bride, so sweet, so young and so fair,
O rose amidst the flowers rose.
O see the groom, he stands so stately, and tall.
The rose-bush bends to shelter all.
2. Step light, my love, and hither by my side come.
Your gown of rosy silk enchant me.
O daughter of the great and mighty *Skeikh,
O queen of beauty and wisdom.

* Sheikh a title originally conferred upon the chief of a tribe.
This song though more than seventy years old, is still popular.

The Vendor of Grapes.

This is a song in praise of grapes and their vendors.

It says: Oh! for those vendors of grapes, { Ref.
By the* Prophet, a bunch do give me

Then in a different vein it goes on:

A necklace he brought me made of a hundred and one stones,
Oh! take it back and bring me grapes
Bangles he bought that fit me well
O take them back and bring me grapes.

And so it goes on mentioning various articles, slippers, meat, etc., and after each article the refrain is repeated.

* An oath - for emphasis.

Come to me Little Duckling

Come to me little duckling,
no I will not come.

Come and meet me at the station,
no I will not come.

Come and carry my basket,
no I will not come.

O come to your Father,
no I will not come.

Come and see your Mother,
no I will not come.

Come and meet your brother,
no I will not come.

Come and speak to your sister,
no I will not come.

O, come then to your sweetheart,
quickly here I come!

This song, though over seventy years old is as popular as ever to this day.

An old Bridal Song which says :

The like of you has never been seen before,
Of your money we bought your trousseau,
There stands your father decorating the coach*,
As also stands your groom, counting hundreds†.

* Coach - the processional coach which carried a bride to her future home. Fifty years ago and more when this song was popular, a gilt coach, - more like Cinderella's, was used for the bridal procession of well-to-do Cairo people.

[†] Hundreds — means hundreds of pounds, referring to the dowry usually paid by a groom according to his station. This custom, though still in practice, is fast dying out.

O Joyous Times

Ref. : O joyous times fair as the whitest marble,
My heart enslaved will be by the young and dark one.

1. O pretty maid, amidst the roses walking.
O let me join you, for to carry your basket.
And if your Father will your hand refuse me,
The deeds I shall do *Antar ne'er did dream of.
2. O pretty maiden, to the *baths when going,
Would I but join you, for your robe to carry.
And if your Father does reject my wooing,
The deeds I shall do *Antar ne'er did dream of.
3. O maiden fair, your cloak of silk is falling.
Your pretty hands show, and those eyes of night *black.
Could I but only touch those lips so tender,
The deeds I would do, *Antar ne'er did dream of.

NOTE : *Antar was a brave Arab warrior whose chivalrous deeds, roving bards sing (to the accompaniment of a fiddle) to this day.

* Night black : typical arabic description.

* Meaning public baths, common in large cities at the end of the nineteenth century.

A Love Song

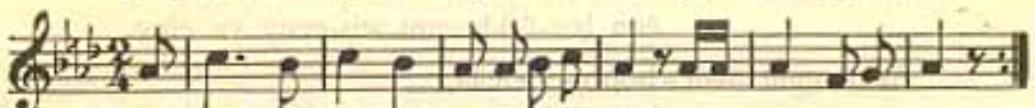

Let the waters in clear pitchers cooling,
Lift your dainty veil, and quench my thirst with water cool and clear.
Should my sweetheart come tonight a-calling,
On my hair I'll wear a garland bright with roses red and rare.
For the one I love, he is my heart's desire.
He of all the lads alone my heart has chosen, "o my eye."
† Sherbat sweet I made, and offered to him,
I whispered, "O come to me, thou pride of manhood brave."

† Sherbat - sweet drink.

A Bridal Song

Your beauty shines through palace walls,
When lights are dim.
We made you marry when still young,
So young were you.
Around your house a garden grows,
Pomegranates red.
The ¹henna blossom we did scent,
Going to ²Istanbul.
We bought your trousseau, and also,
The slave ³Serour.
Serour has served us, O so well,
Through two long years.

This is a very old song (100 years) and is hardly remembered to day.

* Henna - leaves of a tree used to dye the hands and feet of a bride.

[†] Istanbul = Capital of Turkey.

Serour = Name of a man-

A fresh little song that says : —

O *Ahmad, you who sell fresh drinks,
Fill my jug and help me lift it,
Take heed it does not fall,
Lest my Father kill me,
Or the cow will hit me,
Only Mother will forgive me.

* Ahmad — a man's name.

O Palm Trees Two

1. O palm trees two, standing high,
Your dates are balm to the eye.
O palm trees two, and two palm trees,
And lo, all four red dates did bear.
2. O palm trees two, rising high,
Your dates are balm, curing ills,
O palm trees two, near our tree,
Within our yard, lo stand the three.
3. O palm trees two, standing high,
Your dates are balm, to cure ills.
The bride she sang for joy to see,
Those seedless dates grow on the tree.

This song though more than seventy years old, is still very popular to this day. Many different versions are sung to its sweet simple melody.

(أُنْبَيَةُ عُرْسِ رِيفِهِ)

عادان كيد على جانا الفرج جانا

A musical score for a string quartet. The score consists of four staves, one for each instrument: Violin I, Violin II, Viola, and Cello. The music is in common time, with a key signature of one sharp (F#). The score includes dynamic markings such as 'p' (piano), 'f' (forte), and 'ff' (double forte). The vocal part is written in soprano clef, with lyrics in German. The vocal line starts with 'Wachet auf, ruft uns die Stimme'. The score is divided into measures by vertical bar lines.

A Village Wedding Song

Ref. Joy is come, o joy is coming !
Foes and enemies scowling.

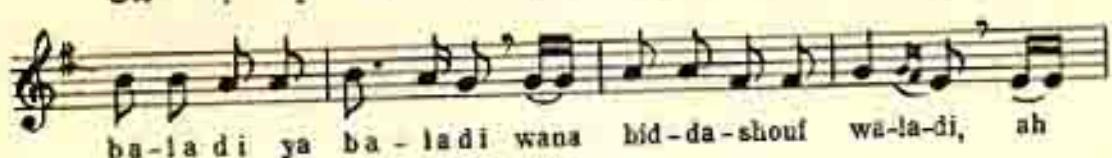

1. And to me the groom did say,
"God has surely blessed me.
Come and see my butter stored,
Pots and bowls o'overflowing."
 2. Then the groom to me did say,
"Sing and dance and merry be,
Wheat and corn are piled up high
In large sacks, back yonder."

O Bahey-ya Tell me !

A song from the Southern Provinces (Upper Egypt)

1. O Bahey-ya, tell me, tell me now,
Who killed poor, poor + Yaseen, O my heart.
Who killed poor, poor Yaseen, Yaseen.
2. The § Sudanese they did kill him now,
From a-top the camel back, O my heart,
From a-top the camel back, camel back.
3. And Yasseen lies now in a pool of blood.
And the doctor fears for him, O my heart.
And the doctor fears for him, O for him.
4. O, thou keeper of the gate, tell me.
Who the mistress of you palace be,
Who the mistress of you palace be,
5. 'Tis Bahey-ya yon palace mistress be,
And she alone is mistress here,
And she alone is mistress here.
6. And a lawyer great Bahey-ya brought,
To plead the case before the court,
To plead before the higher court.
7. And thou great and mighty judge, be kind
For before you stand the poor and weak,
For before you stand the poor and weak.
8. And the red *tarboush he set aside,
And a four-year sentence he did pass.
And a four-year sentence he did pass.
9. And 'twas two years to be spent in jail
And two more in a lonely cell
And two more in a lonely cell.

* Bahey-ya : a woman's name.

+ Yaseen : a man's name.

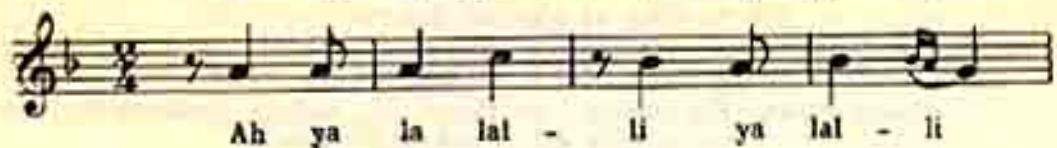

§ Sudanese : a native of Sudan, country South of Egypt. Here it refers to the Sudanese Frontier Guards.

* Tarboush : Fez, Egyptian head dress for men, now getting out of fashion.

1. Tra la la la tra la la la,
Tra la la la tra la la.
2. O the lovely fairest maiden,
Sweet as eyes have never seen.
3. When he saw thee, fairest maiden,
'Way he went, and dared the world.
4. Sick with longing, O beloved,
Blame me not for I'm bewitched.
5. Sleep O sleep did now forsake me,
Though the night be long or short.

The title of this song in Arabic is equivalent to the English, Tra la la.

The Orange In My Hand

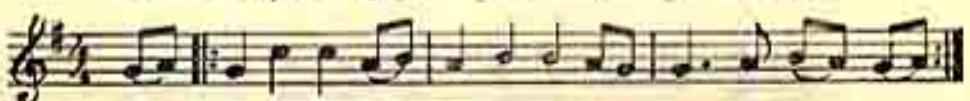

Ref. In my hand I hold an orange fresh
Who'll peel it for me, "feedi boo."

- Verse 1. The fair maiden did peel it now,
Who'll break it up for me, feedi boo.
2. The fair maiden did divide it up now,
Who will feed me, feedi boo.
3. The fair maiden too did feed me now,
So thank you, Oh, feedi boo.

* This song is typical of the country side of Beni-Suef, a province south of Cairo, where people do not pronounce the last syllable of a word, thus "feedi boo" is an arabic word and serves as an example.

The title of this old bridal song is a common expression in Arabic. Its literal meaning is: Pray on the Prophet (i.e. the Prophet Mohammed). This expression is used to deviate the evil eye when gazing upon a beautiful object - in the present case - the bride. The song says: -

Pray on the prophet, what hair, what eyes,
Bringing silk cloth, we called upon thee,
To find thy groom, a moon shining around thee,
Again we come, with friends who love thee,
And find him, beaming as the moon above thee.

قمره یا قمره یا قموده

- بام فوره یا فوره

A musical score for 'Amara' in 2/4 time. The key signature has one sharp (F#). The melody consists of two measures of eighth notes followed by a measure of sixteenth notes. The lyrics 'Amara ya' are repeated twice, followed by 'am-moo - ra yam-'. The vocal line ends with a half note on 'ra'.

The second measure shows a quarter note followed by an eighth note tied to another eighth note. The third measure shows a sixteenth note followed by a quarter note. The fourth measure shows a quarter note followed by a rest. Below the staff, the lyrics are written in a cursive font: han - ni, dai - lil, es - , fou - , ra].

دان ابیسا من غایف کنت ان ان Verso

A musical score for a single voice. The music consists of a single melodic line on a staff with five horizontal lines and four spaces. The notes are primarily quarter notes and eighth notes. Below the staff, the lyrics are written in a cursive script: "in kon - té kha - yef mina - Bou - va da - na".

A musical score for a single melodic line. The staff begins with a treble clef, followed by a key signature of one sharp (F#). The first measure consists of two eighth notes: the first is a quarter note followed by a sixteenth note. The second measure has three eighth notes: a quarter note followed by a sixteenth note, then another sixteenth note. The third measure contains two eighth notes: a quarter note followed by a sixteenth note. The fourth measure shows a single eighth note followed by a fermata (a dot over a vertical line) and a short vertical line.

O Thou 'Zane-il-Abedeen

1. O thou Zane, O thou Zane, O thou Zane il-Abedeen,
O thou rose, O thou rarest flower 'midst the garden seen.
2. O sleep, o sleep, o sleep had fled my eyes.
As when, as when my loved one had forsaken me.
3. And thou and thou, who stand to judge and blame,
The cup, the cup of sorrow no more can I drain.
4. One day, one day in a garden fair I saw,
A gazelle, who eyes of dark black, did my soul enthrall.

This is a very old song. The first verse though was heard about thirty years ago. It is said that a famous singer was in love with a man of the same name, and added this verse using his name, by which now, this song is popularly known.

* Zane-il-Abedeen - name of a man. Its literal meaning is - fairest of all worshippers.

A Plaintive Love Song

The lover says :

For love of the fair maid, I have lost my reason,
She who looks like a peach, and whose kiss is a cure for ills.
O tell the sun to withhold its burning rays,
For the fair gazelle appears at break of day.
Oh, what suffering and pain are mine !
My loved one is far away,
And people's words are unkind,
While my tears over-flow,
With longing for my absent love.

By the * Prophet, O Mohammed,
 What suffering † Hussain does cause me,
 At dawn § Mohammed calls, grant me patience. O my god.
 Mohammed's gifts are many, Hussain's visits are frequent,
 Am I destined to spend these sleepless nights alone.
 On the willow tree, Mohammed sits,
 Sipping drinks, in peaceful quiet,
 What ill luck befalls me, his absence lasts all night.

O my Pigeons

This is an old plaintive village song usually sung to the accompaniment of a reed pipe. It became popular in urban communities as well and is still remembered by many people. It says :

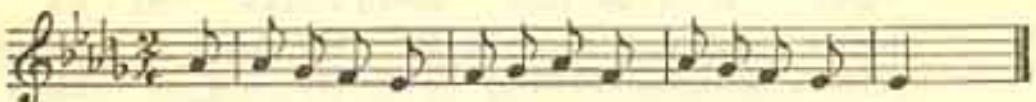

O Mother, my pigeon's eyes are dazzled,
On the roof, I climbed to pray,
There I found three good men chanting "God's Word".
"Will you marry your cousin" No, I said,
"Will you marry a stranger"? "God's will be done", I said

The second part of this song gives a picture of our country side :

O, sakeeya (meaning water wheel) of love, for your driver I am sick,
Ask the "Morning Star" and the "Seven Sisters",
My sad plight, they will recount,
Upon the roof I went to look for my pigeons,
Alas they had flown to other fresh pools,
In agony I cried: "O pigeons mine return,"
"Alas", they said, "your days are over,"
Seek for others, for away we go.

An amusing little song which says :

* By the Prophet, O guardian of the law,
The fault is yours not mine,
By the hand you did lead me
To the police station, while my face turned pale with fear,
The officer, with polite attention looked,
"Forgive me, madam", he then said.

* An oath used for emphasis.

How Lovely Art Thou O Ry-ya

A love song from the Southern Provinces (Upper Egypt) which says:

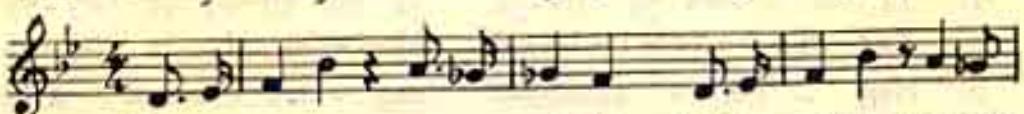

How lovely art thou, O Ry-ya
All pretty maidens grow,
Unlike flowers, they need no water.
O thou, Moursi Aboul-Abbas,
Great art thou placed, like a star on high,
What sad fate is mine, deprived of my loved ones,
No answer came to me, though I long for mine beloved,
She, with the eyes of darkest black.
A knock on the door I hear,
O joy, perchance 'tis my beloved,
Alas 't was only the wind,
Playing tricks.

* Ry-ya : a woman's name.

† Moursi-Aboul-Abbas : name of a devout man buried at Alexandria in a mosque bearing his name.

1. Mine own adored whom I do love,
I even love all who love you,
I also love the deep red rose,
Because your cheeks are of its hue.
2. God bless you dear, in slumber sweet,
Those pigeons two your meal will be.
O do not fear, you gentle pair,
Ne'er will I hatm the pigeons fair.
3. Sleep baby mine, God watches near,
Two crickets small I'll bring for you.
O fear no harm, you crickets small,
My baby sleeps, as you sing near.
4. O dear beloved, my own sweet child,
Ne'er will I let you wander far.
And when you marry, I'll be near,
For life without you holds no joy.

A Village Song

The Mother-in-law - the eternal butt of jokes and song, as the following shows :

Oh, the mother-in-law,

Though she be an angel from Heaven,

Still a mother-in-law.

While washing my hair,

She struck me hard,

May two "afreets," frighten her,

A sight to fill my heart with joy.

* Afreets - arabic name for ghosts or devils.

To My Homeland

To my homeland, to my mother's land, O lad,
To my homeland, land of the dear beloved,
Why chide me, what blame is mine,
You, whose love, my heart did entwine,
Your hand, did lie, upon my hair,
To you I say, O lift it, O keep it,
O cherish me, you dear lad,
To my homeland etc.

The Lentil Soup

The lentil soup turned stiff and cold,
The bride's mother soon fled away,
And the father too with shameless speed,
Did hurry off the bride-to-be.

The Mint Vendor.

Ref. There's the lad who sells the mint-leaves.
How I love those leaves sweet-scented.

1. Take me home to my own people,
And a kiss I will allow you,
And bestow upon you riches,
And a bunch of mint, sweet-scented.
2. If you take me to my mother,
On the lips a kiss I'll offer,
Treasures rare, too, I will give you,
And a bunch of mint, O sheikh Ahmad.

* Sheikh — a title originally conferred upon the chief of a tribe, often used as a title of respect to elderly people, in rural areas. † Ahmad — a man's name.

A Village Song

1. Leave thou my dress, O leave it.
Not thou my chosen bridegroom,
Rare silks the merchant's showing,
Go buy, if thou dost care to.
2. My veil now leave, O leave it.
O leave my veil, I tell thee,
A knight so bold thou art not,
Thou art no knight I tell thee.
3. I wore a rose pink garment,
And off again I threw it,
I cried in pain and sadness
From what thy mother told me.
4. I wore my dress of grey silk,
And off again I took it.
And O, my head does ache so,
Thy mother's deeds upset me.

Where Were You Yesterday ?

It is said that this song was first heard during the first World War. Many of its words have no meaning in Arabic. It is also said that they refer to names of service men of the Allied Troops, then in Egypt.

"Where were you yesterday ? O Shin O, Rin
 "I was drinking, and smoking, and roasting coffee beans
 Hantooshi, Bantooshi,
 Have you ever seen, a hardened heart relent.

Shin & Rin, Hantooshi and Bantooshi, are made up words of no particular meaning.

The Electric Car.

Ref. Oh, the electric car, see the electric car,
Way it ran to Mansheeya.*

- Verse 1. The electric car looks spick and span,
Right before Khomais† ran.
The poor man stared with fright,
He upset the soup at the sight.
2. The electric car is made of brass
There it stopped before Ilyas‡
The man stood stupefied,
Dropped the meat so nicely fried.

This song dates back to the first electric tram-car which appeared in Cairo in September 1896.

* Mansheeya - a district of Old Cairo.

† Khomais and ‡ Ilyas - men's names.

O Bright Night

1. O bright joyous night,
O fair glorious day,
My sweet doves, Mother dear,
Have flown far far away.
Silver rings round their necks,
Eyes of coral red,
When they raise their eyes so tender,
Enslaved I shall be.
2. My sweet gentle doves,
To green fields have flown,
Silver rings round their necks,
Gold-brown are their eyes,
When I call, Mother dear,
Alas none come near.
When they raise their eyes, so tender,
Enslaved I shall be.

A Village Song

Ref. Put me in your pocket, now then,
Between the belt and the waist-coat.

Verse I'll dress in rose, disrobe again.
Beside my lad I'll walk away.

I'll dress in brown, disrobe again,
And take you, sweet lad, to my home.

The musical score consists of three staves of music with corresponding lyrics in English, Arabic, and French. The first staff starts with a treble clef, a key signature of one sharp, and a common time signature. The lyrics are: "Oo - loo - li oo - loo - li al bay-dam - mo loo - li w'Al -". The second staff continues with a treble clef, one sharp, and common time. The lyrics are: "lah - i ma ool - lak wa la gee - lak li - an - dak lam -". The third staff concludes with a treble clef, one sharp, and common time. The lyrics are: " طـوـلـي وـ عـرـمـى عـلـىـ اـكـ مـيـنـ اـشـوفـ". The music features eighth and sixteenth note patterns, with some notes having stems pointing up and others down.
